

Digital Mapping for Landowners
 With Leslie Pelch from VCGI
 Sponsored by
 Vermont Coverts: Woodlands for Wildlife

Bring your laptop and dive into the exciting world of digital mapping! Free mapping data, online mapping applications, and inexpensive hand-held GPS units offer a wealth of opportunities to visualize your land and its resources from a new perspective (a bird’s eye view, to be specific!). Leslie Pelch from the VT Center for Geographic Information (VCGI) will take you on a 3-hour tour:

- The basics of digital mapping (GIS – geographic information systems)
- Using online mapping applications like Google Earth (but there are more out there!)
- Accessing existing free mapping data
- Quick overview of free GIS software
- Collecting GPS data and downloading it onto a map (GPS units provided for the workshop)
- Bringing it all together into maps that help you explore your land in a new way

Workshops are only $10 and limited to 10 participants. All workshops run from 1pm -4pm

I will attend at the (check one):
